HAY FEVER

What is allergic rhinitis (hay fever)?

Allergic rhinitis (hay fever) is an allergic reaction to tiny particles in the air called allergens. When you breathe in allergens through your nose or mouth, your body reacts by releasing a natural chemical called histamine. Despite being called hay fever, hay doesn't cause hay fever and most people don't get a fever.

Symptoms of hay fever include sneezing, nasal congestion and irritation of your nose, throat, mouth and eyes. Allergic rhinitis isn't the same as infectious rhinitis, otherwise known as the common cold. Hay fever isn't contagious.

Several indoor and outdoor allergens cause hay fever. Common hay fever triggers include: pollen from trees, weeds and plants, mould spores, pet dander, dust mites, cockroach droppings and saliva.

Symptoms include: nasal congestion, sneezing and runny nose, itchy nose, throat and eyes, red or watery eyes, headaches and wheezing.

Talk to our friendly staff for treatment with tablets, nasal sprays and eye drops.
